The admission requirements for study at the Faculty of Economics, Prague University of Economics and Business (hereinafter "VŠE"), are set out in the Regulation on the Admission Procedure of the Faculty of Economics for the relevant academic year. A legal requirement for admission to the Master's degree program is the completion of a Bachelor's degree program with a focus on economics.

The Economics and Public Policy program is a fee-paying program.

An applicant may be admitted to the Master's degree program taught in English if they:

a) pass the entrance examination,
b) submit a certified copy of the diploma or other proof of completion of studies issued by the foreign university,
c) submit a certified copy of the Diploma Supplement or a transcript of records,
d) submit a scanned copy of their passport, and
e) if the documents in (b) and (c) are not in Czech or English, submit an official translation of them into one of these languages.

Entrance Examination
The entrance examination is conducted in English and consists of three parts: submitting a CV according to a given template, submitting a motivation video, and taking part in a remote subject-focused admission interview. Applicants are advised to have at least an upper-intermediate level of English.

- CV: Applicants must use the provided CV template, available at CV-Template_-Masters-Applicants_Student_Name.docx. The CV must include information about previous studies, relevant work experience, and other relevant activities. The CV must be submitted electronically as a PDF attached to the application.

- Motivation video: Applicants present their motivation for studying, their qualifications, and their strengths. The video may be up to 2 minutes long, and there are no restrictions on creativity. It must be uploaded to YouTube. The YouTube link must be inserted into a Word document, converted to PDF and attached to the application.
- Remote subject-focused admission interview: Applicants will be invited to an interview once they have electronically submitted their CV, motivation video and a copy of their passport, and have paid the application fee. Admission interviews will take place in the second week of March. The interview is held remotely and lasts approximately 5 minutes, and focuses on the subject area of the study program. It is a short professional conversation aimed at assessing whether the applicant has the academic prerequisites for successful study in the Economics and Public Policy program, as well as getting to know their educational background.

Admission is decided by a points-based evaluation, with the parts of the entrance examination weighted as follows: 25 % for the CV, 25 % for the motivation video, and 50 % for the admission interview.

Applicants can score a maximum of 100 points; at least 70 points are required for admission. Applicants can see their results in the VŠE Student Information System (InSIS

Applicants who have completed a Bachelor's degree program at the Faculty of Economics, VŠE, may be admitted without taking the entrance examination, provided they have not previously left a Master's program at the Faculty of Economics of VŠE without completing it.
